HOAGLAND'S
NEW PATENT SHAFT COUPLING!
W. E. COOPER

HAS PURCHASED THE RIGHT FOR THIS County of the above Patent, and will hereafter use it in the construction of all the Vehicles manufactured at his extensive

Carriage Factory,
Corner of Second and Morrison Streets.
He respectfully refers to the following
CARD.

Having examined the New Patent Shaft Coupling, invented by H. R. Hoagland, we feel pleasure in informing the public that in our opinion it is the safest and best method of connecting shafts or tongues to all vehicles that has ever been used.

It fastens without bolt or screw, and is therefore, easily and speedily separated. It rests on Gutta Percha so as to be entirely free from the rattling sound which so often disturbs restless horses. It is easily changed so that the shafts or tongue may be detached in an instant, and is convenient, safe and secure.

It is easy to change to this style of coupling any buggy or other vehicle now in use, and with small expense. We have come to the conclusion to use this new invention ourselves and recommend its use to all cases. We consider it far superior to the Brewster Patent, heretofore considered the best in use.

CLEAR THE DIRT!
HOW?
BY USING STANDARD SOAP CO.'S
WASHING POWDERS.

CAUTION.—OWING TO THE MANY IMITATIONS of this article, persons should be very cautious and purchase none but that branded "Standard Soap Company, of San Francisco," on packages and boxes. The imitations are palmed off by dealers, because of a greater profit to themselves. The great demand for this powder is a sure guarantee of its good qualities for washing purposes. It saves time and labor, and does not injure the finest fabric. Sold by all Grocers. Try Standard Soap Co.'s Detersive Soap. ap7[illegible]

[DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN.]

EASTERN DATES TO JUNE 20.

Washington News.

WASHINGTON, June 21.—The President nominated J. H. Winsor as Register of the Landoffice for Wyoming Territory.

In the Senate, the Finance Committee reported unanimously and recommended nonconcurrence in the House amendments to the Senate currency and apportionment bill. A Conference Committee was appointed.

Bayard presented the memorial of W. F. Smith, President of the International Ocean Telegraph Company praying for $500,000 a year to be paid by the United States for twenty years, to establish and maintain an international telegraph cable from San Francisco to Japan and China, and a third from the United States to Europe, conditional upon never consolidating with any existing transatlantic cable, and never charging more than $5, gold coin, for each message of ten words. Referred.

Sherman reported a resolution to determine the construction of the internal revenue act so as to exempt indistributable sums added to contingent funds of insurance companies. Passed.

The Postoffice appropriation bill was taken up and Trumbull's amendment limiting the franking privilege to Departments rejected by 22 to 25. Ramsey's proposition to repeal the franking privilege was rejected, 26 to 28. Casserly voted to repeal, Cole, Corbett, Nye, Stewart and Williams against it. Bill passed.

In the House, the case of B. F. Whittemore was taken up and after considerable debate his claim to a seat was rejected by 131 to 24.

Letter postage between the United States and North German Union and Austria will be reduced to seven cents per half ounce by direct steamer, and ten cents in closed mails via England.

The Senate Foreign Affairs Committee has decided to report the Belgian cable and New Jersey and Bahama cable bills.

Markets and Crops.

NEW YORK, June 21.—Breadstuffs are a little changed. During the absence of cable reports shippers are disposed to hold off. A few loads of No. 2 Milwaukee were taken at $1 31@1 32 to fill freight engagements to Havre. Also 40,000 bushels to Antwerp at 93, freight. English shippers doing little because of lower prices at Liverpool yesterday—margins against them are increased.

Nothing further is known about European crops. The general impression is that renewed demand is inevitable. Western reports continue favorable.

Indian Outbreak.

CHICAGO, June 21.—Col. Morrow, of the 13th U. S. Infantry arrived at Sioux City yesterday, bearing news of an attack by Indians in force on a party of wood-choppers, near Fort Buford, killing nearly all of them. The Colonel pronounces this the opening of a long meditated war.

Information was received at Sheridan's head quarters in this city, to-day, of a fight with Indians near Fort McPherson by a company of the 50th cavalry, under Lt. Thomas.

BY THE CABLES.

LONDON, June 21.—A terrible disaster happened this afternoon on the Great Western Railway. A large excursion train was run into by a freight train. Several cars were thown from the track. Three were demolished. The excursion train was going at full speed and struck the end of the bridge. Thirteen persons were killed and thirty or forty injured,—some fatally. Five of the wounded are not expected to recover. Ten are in a desperate condition.

California Crop Prospects.

The San Francisco Bulletin of the 14th inst., takes a more hopeful view of the crop prospects in California. We quote:

There seems to be a fair prospect that, if our wheat yield is less per acre than it would have been with more rain, it will generally be of excellent quality, and will command a good price. The reports in the interior journals are more favorable as to the amount of yield than they were before harvesting began, and a much better feeling obtains in agricultural circles. Then the latest reports from abroad look favorable to a fair export demand. Between January 1st and May 27th, there was a great diminution of the wheat and flour stock in the London market, and probably in other English ports, and there was a very narrow margin of supply until the arrival of the new crop, which was not promising well. The wheat crop in France is also unpromising. It has been stated that considerable orders for American wheat have lately been received, to fill which for the Liverpool market, according to one report, Chicago was "swept." These facts, or rumors, do not justify extravagant hopes, and are not meant to encourage the suicidal practice of holding on for fancy prices, which has often injured the producers of California. They may be modified essentially by later advices, but there is enough in them, at present, to justify the belief that there will be no falling off in the export demand for our wheat. Such an assurance is important to the financial and commercial interests of the State, no less than the agricultural, and is already having a wholesome influence.

LAW AGAINST SERVILE LABOR.—Reference has been made several times to the introduction of a bill in Congress to prohibit the importation of laborers under contracts for long terms of service. We have little faith in the efficiency of such a measure, but herewith give the bill entire:

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That every contract for labor, any part of the consideration of which shall be the money for passage or transportation advanced or secured for any alien from any foreign country to the United States which provides for a longer period of service than six months is hereby declared to be a contract for servile labor and contrary to public policy, and any person who shall contract for such labor for a period of more than six months, or enforce, or attempt to enforce such contract, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and, upon conviction thereof by information or indictment in the District or Circuit Court of the United States, shall be punished by a fine of not less than $1,000, nor more than $5,000, together with the costs of the prosecution, one half of which shall be paid to the informer and the other half to the alien held to service aforesaid, upon condition that he immediately return to his native country under such regulations for the enforcement of this condition as the Court may prescribe.

"Red Cloud," who recently arrived at Washington, has a speech all ready, which he is to deliver to the President, and which some reporter has screwed out of the brave, most unfairly sending it on in advance by telegraph. "Red Cloud" calls Gen. Grant his "Great Father" four times, "My Father" twice, "Good Father" once, and simply "Father" also four times. Of course he alludes to the Deity as "The Great Spirit," and tells Gen. Grant that he has come to Washington "to smoke the pipe of peace," whereas it is well enough known that the General would much prefer to smoke a first rate cigar. Isn't it about time that this old-fashioned nonsense of "Father", and "Great Spirit," and the like, imitated, and that badly, from Cooper's novels, should no longer be put into the mouths of the poor Indians? Why must the Red Man be forced to acknowledge upon all occasions that he is a child still in a condition of pupilage? Why make him affirm a fanciful paternity, when Gen. Grant is no more his father than he is ours?—New York Tribune.

CHINESE IN LOUISIANA.—A vessel has arrived at New Orleans direct from Hong Kong with 167 Chinese. The Commercial Bulletin, of New Orleans, refers to this arrival in terms like these:

Let these Chinese strangers be dealt with kindly and considerately. Put away uncharitable thoughts about their being pagans. Put away supercilious notions about their being barbarians. Heaven knows their paganism, whatever its forms can hardly be, in moral and actual fact, more hideous and portentous than the kind of paganism already rank in this country, and which consists in various fashions of godless life and sentiment on the one hand, and in various modes of fetichism or voudouism on the other.

The Earthquake in Oaxaca, Mexico—One Hundred and Three Persons Killed.

The following are additional particulars about the late disastrous earthquake in Mexico:

The night of the 11th of May, 1870, will be long remembered in Oaxaca. At half-past seven, one, or rather a repetition of shocks of earthquake occurred, which shook the city to its foundation, causing a large number of deaths, and the almost entire demolition of the southern portion of the city. The movement at first was oscillating from south to north, and almost instantaneously followed by a vertical one, which was fearful to behold. The shock or shocks lasted about a minute, and in their intensity have never been equaled by anything in this State. Oaxaca dates back two hundred years, but bears no scars which can compare with those inflicted on Wednesday night. There is not a city in Mexico, probably none on this continent, more substantially and solidly built than is Oaxaca, and yet there is not one house or edifice which has not suffered more or less, while many are in absolute ruins. The whole of the corridors of the old Convent of San Juan de Dios are down, and, in their fall, buried four persons, wounding and maiming many more. San Francisco, inside and out, is a heap of rubbish. The palace is almost in ruins, and will require an outlay of many thousands of dollars before it can be rendered fit for occupation again. The clock tower, which was only completed on the 5th of May, came down bodily, passed through the roof into the halls of the Supreme Court, through the floor of these, and piled itself in the portal of the palace underneath. The whole of the arches are sprung, and many of the columns are shifted eight or ten inches on their pedestals. The cathedral in its interior has suffered most severely, and the saint perched upon the top, over the center door, came down with a crash. The total number of deaths known thus far is 103; the wounded and maimed it is impossible to find out. The shocks continued at intervals throughout Thursday, and at one o'clock there was quite a sharp one. This morning (Friday) there were two at about six o'clock but very slight. There was an anxiety, a fearful apprehension of coming evil, depicted upon the faces of all during yesterday, which was most painful to witness. A slight shake would now reduce the whole city to a heap of ruins. Very few people remained in the houses last night, and the squares of the Llano had much the appearance of a Methodist camp-meeting, except, perhaps, that the assemblage was more orderly and quiet than camp-meetings sometimes are.

Another account (in a letter to the Opinion Nacional) says that about half-past eleven o'clock, on the night of the 11th of May, when most of the inhabitants were sleeping and the city was clothed in deep silence, there was heard a deafening, rumbling noise, which seemed to come from the center of the earth, sounded like the distant echo of the tempest, or the roaring of the angry sea. This was the precursor of the heaviest shock of earthquake within the memory of the oldest inhabitants; the city was shaken to its foundation. Soon all was confusion and terror, and there succeeded a scene which no pen can describe. The cries, lamentations, prayers and imprecations of the people, who were roaming wildly about the streets; the crashing of timbers and falling of walls in showers of rubbish; all this, together with the continued subterranean echo, gave a sombre hue to the scene of desolation. The earthquake lasted seventy-five seconds. If we should have another shock like this, we might say, "Here was Oaxaca!" On the night of the 12th we had another shock (a slight one), which caused new terrors, in consequence of which the greatest part of the population slept in the streets and plazas. The aspect of the town, in the advanced hours of night, was imposing. The sky was of a lead color, a calm pervaded the atmosphere, and everybody was afraid of a repetition of the deplorable scenes of the night of the 11th.

Capital Punishment Abolished in Holland

[From the N. Y. Herald.]

The Dutch Chambers have abolished the penalty of death by a majority of eighteen votes in the Upper House—the record standing 18 yeas to 30 nays. The struggle that preceded this decision was, however, long and determined, as it had been previously in the Belgium Legislature. The great speech of the debate was made by Myhneer Heemskerk who vehemently and eloquently opposed the abrogation, basing his dissent upon the antiquity of the punishment, the danger likely to result to society from abolishing it and the principle of rightful self-defence on which communities of men have hitherto based the infliction of the death penalty. But his reasoning and eloquence—his good sense, we may add—were displayed in vain. A sentimentalism, perhaps mistaken, and the consequences may show, overbore the experience of ages and the votes of both Catholics and Protestants of the old orthodox schools, who alike claimed the necessity of the scaffold to restrain the godless and ferocious passions of tho time.

The result that has ensued was, however, so well known beforehand that the supporters of capital punishment confined their efforts to attempting to maintain it for regicide, parricide, assassination and poisoning. Several of the Liberals went so far as to claim the abolition of the penalty for the army and navy only, but all amendments were rejected, and execution for murder is, literally, "played out" in Holland.

It may be that, under a different clime and different circumstances, it is a safe experiment to relieve our human tigers of the fear of axe and rope; and Germany, too, would seem to think so, for the new Prussian criminal code proposes the abolition of the death penalty excepting for clear cases of assassination; but we are still very doubtful indeed whether such a change on this side of the Atlantic could be tried with safety for a week. The beer and light wines of North Germany and the Low Countries, operating upon phlegmatic constitutions, have no such effects as the fiery fluids consumed in such quantities by our quick, nervous and excitable populace produce; and it is more than probable that within thirty days after the abolition of capital punishment in this country, were so rash a measure attempted, there would be a universal outcry to restore it. Hemp has it uses as well as soothing syrup.

A very extraordinary case of the freaks and effects of thunderbolts, says the Elko (Nev.) Independent of May 28, transpired last week on the line of the new telegraph between Elko and Hamilton. P. H. Lovell, who was engaged in constructing the line of telegraph, was struck by lightning while kneeling on the ground holding the wire in one hand. The lightning first struck the wire at some distance, followed it to the end, entered Mr. Lovell's hand, splitting three of his fingers, followed up his arm, and thence down his breast and side to the knee, which was on the ground, where it left the leg, breaking through the flesh and skin, leaving a blackened hole, like that caused by a bullet. The lightning entered the ground under the knee, tearing a hole through the sod as it entered. Mr. Lovell was knocked over senseless, but soon recovered, and, strange to say, received no permanent injury, resuming his work again in a short time. He says he felt all the stronger and better for the electrical shock. The sensation caused by the passage of the lightning through his system he describes as very peculiar—very much like sharp pricking of pins, particularly when the mysterious element entered and left his body.

The Russian government, it is stated, is about to build a church in New York city, where services will be conducted according to the Greek form of worship.

CURRENT NOTES.

Loring Price, who, as sexton at Buffalo since 1821, has buried over 35,000 of his fellow beings, followed them a few days ago. During the latter years of his life, his sombre calling had a very depressing influence upon him.

A Montreal paper announces the departure from Western Canada of the last battery of artillery for England. This is but carrying out the determination of the Imperial Government of withdrawing British troops from the Dominion.

J. B. Brown, of Nashville, Tenn., has received letters patent on his improved rotary printing press. The Nashville Banner says that "as a press for printing two sides of a single sheet at once, it is in many respects, superior to the Bullock press, and capable of great speed."

The Louisville Courier regards itself as an experienced authority in the definition of Indian names. It says that "Ogallalla, or, more properly, Ogalallah, is composed of two English words, O and gal, and the Arabic word Allah, and means a godlike gal—such, for instance, as Olive Logan or Susan B. Anthony.

The troubles have not yet ceased in Canada. Fenians have departed, but the Winnepeggers are still active. Advices from the Red River Territory make it certain that the military expedition, now on the way to the Lake of the Woods, will have to do some fighting before the rebellious half breeds submit to Canadian authority.

A Pottsville (Pa.) paper says that a new interest is to be staked at Mauch Chunk in the manufacture of fuel from coal dust and siftings at the collieries. Various experiments have, from time to time, been tried for the purpose of making this refuse of coal into good, cheap fuel, but hitherto without success. If the Mauch Chunk people have overcome all the difficulties so as to bring the fuel at a salable price, they have several fortunes in store for them.

A French paper gives the following account of the origin of the expression, "to make a complete fiasco." A German seeing a glass-blower at his occupation, and thinking nothing could be easier than glass blowing, commenced operations by blowing vigorously, but only produced a spear-shaped balloon or little flask (fiasco). The second attempt had a similar result, and so on—fiasco after fiasco. Hence the expression not unfrequently used in describing the result of our private and public understandings.

Seldom do we meet with a greater truth more beautifully expressed than this, from the New York Nation: "Refined homes are the end of civilization. All the work of the world—the railroading, navigating, digging, delving, manufacturing, inventing, teaching, writing, fighting, are done, first of all to secure each family in the quiet possession of its own hearth; and secondly, to surround as many as possible with grace and culture and beauty. The work of all races for five thousand years is represented in the difference between a wigwam and a lady's parlor. It has no better result to show."

The center of the manufacture and sale of fireworks in this country is the city of New York and its vicinage. About $1,000,000 worth of Chinese fireworks are imported every year, and an equal quantity is manufactured here. There are about 400 different branches of American manufacture, ranging from the smallest pin-wheels to the finest exhibition pieces. Some of the grandest displays, cost as much as $20,000 for a single exhibition. Chinese fireworks, on which there is a tariff of $1 in gold per box, are brought here mainly by vessels engaged in the tea trade, simply to fill up the cargo. The business of manufacturing and selling fireworks has increased immensely in this country within the last five years. There are in Williamsburg, Jersey City, and Greenville eight or ten large manufactories, and in New York city twelve or fifteen wholesale dealers. Owing to sharp competition in the business, the profits are said to be quite small at the present time.

HOW ADULTERY IS PUNISHED IN CHINA.—The Hongkong Daily Press, of May 6th, has the following:

"Europeans are generally under the impression that the Celestial social law and code of the moral law is of the lowest order, and that chastity with their woman is a by-word. This, no doubt, is in a measure owing to so few Westerns being really acquainted with the higher class of the Chinese, and looking upon polygamy as an established rule rather than an exception. But in no country in the world is adultery so severely dealt with, or retribution so severely exercised for infringing on this our Seventh Commandment. A horrible instance of this occurred a few days ago near Shanghae. A married lady, forming a guilty alliance with the friend of her brother, made up her mind to put an end to her husband's life by some means or other, and forthwith divulged her project to her paramour, who at once gallantly offered to undertake the work for her. He eventually effected his design by poison, and the man was duly placed in his coffin and the usual ceremonies performed over his body. But after a time suspicion arose as to the cause of his death, and the woman, after frightful torture, admitted having committed the crime or crimes alleged, but to the last denied that her lover had anything to do with the murder. She was then nailed, hands and feet, on the top of her husband's coffin, his body then being in a state of decomposition, and there lingered for nearly four days until death put an end to her sufferings. Since then the man, the principal malefactor, having confessed to everything, has been decapitated, and his head now hangs in a cage not far from where the awful tragedy took place."

WHAT SHEEP FOR PROFIT.—Here is what an Illinois correspondent of an Eastern paper says on this subject:

This is a question that ought to concern every one engaged in wool-growing. I have never yet found any breed of sheep that would realize me as much clear gain as the merino. I have never found any other breed that I could keep a large flock of and keep them healthy. I generally keep about five hundred head, and scarcely ever lose more than two per cent. a year. I get from five to five and a half pounds of wool per head. My sheep at three years old will weigh from ninety to one hundred and ten pounds. I cull my sheep every year, never keep any till they are past five years old (unless it be a choice breeding ewe.) I have my lambs come in the latter part of March and April, so that they are big and strong by the time cold weather comes on. Perhaps some breeder of Cotswolds will say he can do better than that. If so, let me know it.

THURSDAY MORNING, JUNE 23, 1870

Different Parts of the Pacific Contrasted

[illegible] State of Oregon and the Territory of Washington are the only parts of the [illegible] which are prosperous enough to show real industrial progress [illegible] every day more and more [illegible] outside of San Francisco [illegible] ous and even that city though it is the commercial [illegible] must on account of its position [illegible] of activity and grow steadily in importance does not show the progress in industry and wealth which should be expected [illegible] its size and consequence. Generally throughout California the industrial condition is not promising. Except in San Francisco and two or three other small cities there is little increase in population. Manufacturing industry is at a stand [illegible]. The agricultural interest is not in a promising condition. To those who see California for the first time at this season of the year there is little encouragement to look with a view of making permanent homes. The drought of the present season the short crops and the depressed condition of industries in general are facts that are apparent, so much so that many who have come out to California this year by rail have gone back without extending their visit to other places and have voted the Pacific coast a failure. As for Nevada there are absolutely no inducements for immigration to that State. The quartz mines are all there is of it, and they cannot be operated without heavy capital. Nevada has no homes, and never can have any. Her population is decreasing and is now actually smaller than when the State was admitted into the Union. The vote in the last election was nearly 5,000 less than in 18[illegible] and even the vote of California was less in 1868 than in 18[illegible]. Nevada has no real basis to build upon and will never be much in advance of the position she occupies now.

While the condition of California and Nevada are such as we have described there is every reason for encouragement for the future of our own State. Here there has been no forced unnatural growth. The progress of Oregon has not been rapid but it has been uniform and well sustained. There has been no backward movement. There has been no period of general and disastrous depression. Every year the industries of the State have multiplied, and population has been increased. In the natural resources of Oregon in soil, the timber, the minerals, and the advantages of situation and climate there is a basis for steady development. From this time forward this development will be powerfully accelerated by the progress of great enterprises within our borders. The period of great internal improvements has just begun with us. People who come here from abroad do not find a State parched with drought and are not discouraged by a failure of crops staring them in the face. Labor wants its reward and people are naturally attracted to a place where the rewards of labor are certain. To insure the rapid industrial progress of our State it is only necessary to make its attractions known. That they are becoming known is evinced by the great increase of immigration which has recently been witnessed. On the whole it would seem that Oregon and Washington Territory are the only parts on the Pacific coast that are really increasing to any extent in population, and laying the foundation for immediate rapid growth and prosperity.

San Domingo

There is said to be a big job in connection with the treaty for the acquisition of San Domingo. Or rather, certain parties are said to have taken advantage of the proposed treaty to put up a job to make money out of its ratification. This, at all events, is what the specials assert. That of the Chicago Tribune of June 15th gives these specifications:

It is asserted that the San Domingo Ring numbering some twenty or thirty persons, Americans and Dominicans have got hold of various public buildings at a low figure, that it intended our Government shall buy them at a high figure after annexation takes place, that the Ring has got a secret title to various salt mines, logwood groves and tracts of mineral lands that the sale of these [illegible] ngs to the Dominican Government and are covered and conveyed to the United States by the treaty, but will be claimed by private parties as grants from Baez as soon as that document is ratified. It is also charged that large bodies of public lands of a valuable quality have been conditionally granted to the Ring in connection with a railroad charter since the treaty was negotiated, and that the charter and land grant will come to light in valid form if we get the Island, and will be thrown up if the treaty fails or is rejected.

It is certain that the Senate will not ratify the treaty unless there can be guarantees against jobs of this sort but it is to be remembered that these assertions have not been proven, and late intelligence states that Gen Babcock, who was accused of complicity in the matter, is fully exonerated. But the treaty still hangs in the Senate much no doubt to the disappointment of sundry aspiring politicians who are anxious to be Senators, Congressmen and collectors of revenue under the United States.

Population of Oregon

In June 1860 the total vote of Oregon was 13,[illegible]61. The United States census which was taken immediately after that election was held, showed that the population of the State was a little more than [illegible],000. The proportion of voters to the whole population was about one to four. In the election just held the total vote of the State was something over [illegible],000 or about 1[illegible],000 larger than in June 1860. At the rate of four persons to one voter this would make the population of the State about [illegible]. But it is known that the whole population has increased since 1860 in a more rapid proportion than the voting population. The census now in progress will doubtless show at least five persons to each voter [illegible] 1860. This would make the population of the State 115,000. It is well known that during the last ten years the number of families throughout the State has been greatly increased and the proportion of single men diminished. We think it safe therefore to estimate the population of Oregon fully as large as indicated by the above figures and it may be even larger.

There was some bolting among the Democrats of Union county on the county ticket. The Walla Walla Statesman Democrat assails them with great bitterness. It says they are traitors to the principle that protected them when they were prodded out of Missouri with Yankee bayonets in the hands of Yankee soldiers.

Charles Dickens has a place in Westminster Abbey. On the 14th inst. his remains were taken to that place of sepulture for the illustrious dead, and deposited in the poets' corner, at the foot of Handel and at the head of Sheridan, with Macaulay and Cumberland on either side.

How are the Facts

It has been asserted by the Herald that this city is and has always been Democratic. This assertion is made by that paper to give weight to the charge that the Republicans triumphed in the election on the 6th inst by "fraud and corruption," or in other words that Democrats sold their votes. Now if the Herald had said that Portland is and has always been a Republican city it would have stated what is true. We [illegible] the paper to look at the following figures which exhibit the vote of this city in every general election since the Republican party has had an organization [illegible]

	Rep	Dem	Rep Maj	Dem Maj
[illegible]	4	1	1[illegible]
1860 June	486	[illegible]	1
[illegible] Nov	4[illegible]9	41[illegible]	6
1862	4[illegible]0	2[illegible]0	[illegible]
1[illegible]4	[illegible]	238	4[illegible]1
1866	8[illegible]5	685	1[illegible]5
1868 June	[illegible]	[illegible]		21
18[illegible] Nov	[illegible]	[illegible]	11
1870	990	658	33[illegible]

In 1858 this city went against Grover then a candidate for Congress by a considerable majority. It will be seen from this statement that during a period of twelve years embracing eight elections for member of Congress and three elections for President this city has never given a Democratic majority except on one occasion in 1868, when on account of the complications of national politics the failure of impeachment and kindred causes the Democrats carried it by the paltry majority of twenty one. On all other occasions during the long period mentioned the Republicans have carried it by majorities ranging from 67 up to 450. If this exhibit does not disprove the assertion that Portland is and has always been a Democratic city what more could be required? The truth is Portland is a Republican city and it is neither fair nor decent in the Herald to assert that the Republicans were enabled to carry it in the late election because the Democrats sold their votes. We think the above exhibit will suffice to prove that the Republicans can carry Portland with their own votes without "buying" those of Democrats.

Succumbed to the "Bloated Bondholders"

The New York World is extremely happy to find that the Democracy of Ohio have abandoned the "greenback theory." In discussing the Ohio platform the World talks in this jubilant strain:

There is another noteworthy and significant omission in the platform which attests the quick appreciation of the Ohio Democracy of the actual state of existing questions. We should expect in Ohio if anywhere, a reaffirmation of the doctrine that the Federal bonds are payable in greenbacks. But our alert wide-awake Ohio friends are prompt to perceive that the diminished price of gold makes quite a difference in the practical bearings of that question. The price of gold has sunk forty per cent since Mr Pendleton promulgated his views on that subject and when it shall have gone ten or fifteen per cent lower, it will be all the same to the tax payers whether the debt is paid in coin or currency. That question will be perfectly idle, it will present a mere distinction without a difference, as soon as we reach specie payments. The true and statesmanlike view of this subject was very ably stated by Governor Hoffman in his last annual message and having been virtually accepted by the Democracy of Ohio we may expect its universal adoption by the Democratic party of the whole country.

The Salt Lake Maelstrom.—All the papers have published a story about the discovery of a subterranean outlet in Salt Lake. The dispatch giving an account of it was sent from Corinne. But the Salt Lake Herald is incredulous and publishes the following for the benefit of those who are uneasy on the subject:

Corinne has found a big excitement—a hole in the lake, and the way the water is rushing downward betokens a speedy drowning out of that sulphurous region over which, an ill natured individual suggests, Corinne is situated. If so lucky Corinne! The Voice of last evening has a special telegram, which states that "a subterranean outlet to Great Salt Lake has been discovered opposite Corinne, between Fremont and Kimball's islands, and a schooner last Tuesday was nearly drawn into the hole. A party of scientific men are to start immediately to investigate the matter," and it's to be hoped they won't find snakes in their boots. But how about the saltness of the lake? Is Nicholas' salt mill in the middle? Or how is it that the rivers carrying in fresh water, as the briny element goes out by the underground hole do not turn the whole lake fresh? It's a nice "goak?"

The Field of Manassas.—A correspondent of the Charleston News, after sketching the appearance of this great battle field during the war, has the following upon its present condition:

"From this terrible waste and ruin let us turn to a fairer sight—the Manassas of to day. It is a pretty village of over a hundred houses, grouped about the depot, with broad streets, in good condition, lined with residences, stores, smithies and all the offices of a considerable population. Many of these houses are neat and tasty, some are even elegant, and the hotel is a pleasant, spacious one, indeed while queenly religion has built her temple on a grassy lawn at the end of a fine street. The inhabitants are mostly from the North—a sturdy, hard working yeomanry, bringing down those habits of industry and sobriety which have made a garden land of even cold and rocky New England. Their principles are also of the North, but this does not seem to trouble the good Virginians who have settled among them for they are not making a political colony. They came down on the borders of the sunny South to make homes for themselves, not to become office holders. So the fields, as far as the eye can reach, are under cultivation, the young wheat is breaking through the ground, and all the busy activities of the farm are in cheerful progress. Young trees are slowly growing up to mitigate and soften the present bald aspect of the place, the germs of future gardens brighten here and there in spots of floral brilliance and beauty, new houses are rising on newly acquired estates for the homes of future generations of thrifty Virginians, and a smart little local paper dispenses the tidings of the day and indulges in occasional strains of prophetic enthusiasm which would be worthy of Duluth or Omaha.

The Japanese are not precisely scientific or advanced in their agricultural implements. Their plough has a straight beam and a wooden stick for a share mortised in at an angle of about 45 degrees. On the end of this share is a small piece of iron plate tied on. The plough is drawn by a horse harnessed with straw ropes and always worked to the beam. Some of the ploughs have an upright by which the driver steadies its motion, but the plough we saw worked itself, with only slight assistance from the owner's foot. They have a great variety of hoes and spades but those we saw were very similar to those used by the negroes on Southern plantations. The crop of rice is enormous and must yield double the amount to the acre than does the rice raised in South Carolina. Every plant is cared for from the time it is transplanted until it is cut and whipped out. As is with their plantations wheat, corn, millet and beans which account for the enormous crops they sometimes raise from a small piece of land.

Who Brought the Fenians Home.—A neat little controversy has sprung up about the return of the Fenian warriors to New York. Sachem Tweed of Tammany was the first to order them brought back at his own expense. Varian of Fenians published a card saying that Tweed did not give a cent but that all the money for their passage was contributed by their Irish friends and by local politicians. Tweed knocks them all in the head this morning by saying that he had given orders for the Fenians to be fed and transported at his expense and it had already cost him nearly $6,000. He knows which side his bread should have the butter upon it and the men whom he brought back have already pledged themselves to go for Tweed whenever he wants an election. Their friends will also remember the generosity of the great Tammany chieftain, and the expenditure of $6,000 will probably bring him twice as many votes whenever he wants them.

Jeff Davis was present at the memorial services over the rebel dead in Memphis, Tenn., and a local paper says that while the orator recounted the fadeless glories of the Confederate soldiers there could be observed passing over the calm and philosophic features of Mr Davis sudden flashes of light which bespoke the soldier's heart and great soul within. Possibly the spectator did not read the flashes aright.

OREGON

The debt of Wasco county is $1[illegible],0[illegible]0 [illegible].

A very damaging hail storm passed over a portion of [illegible] county on Wednesday of last week destroying grain fields and gardens.

The Columbia District Agricultural Society was organized at the Dalles on the [illegible] inst. It is to embrace the eastern counties of Oregon and the adjacent counties of Washington Territory.

M. S. Hart who has been at work for some time on the McMinnville [illegible] has taken [illegible] [illegible] on the railroad in Marion county. [illegible] [illegible]

The Eugene Journal says: A train of emigrants passed through this place yesterday for Goose Lake. A number of persons are leaving this county the present season for Goose Lake valley.

The Walla Walla Statesman has this: The news from the Blusta mines is to the effect that the Burnt River Ditch Company are having considerable trouble and a small amount of water owing to the newness of their ditch. Breaks occur frequently and days sometimes elapse before the discovery is made as to their whereabouts. Notwithstanding there is sharp there is at no [illegible] hundred inches of water in El Dorado. Business is fair but not rushing.

The McMinnville Bible thus speaks of the result of our election: By the vote of a majority of its people Oregon has just declared in favor of repudiating the national debt. By the same act it has endorsed the vote of the Democratic members of Congress who opposed granting a foot of land to aid in the construction of railroads within the State. Southern and Eastern Oregon have voted to remain isolated dependent and poor as they must remain without facilities for transportation. The rank and file of the Democratic party have shut their eyes and followed or been driven by unscrupulous leaders into a position of hostility to their own interests.

THE WEST

The county seat of Washoe county Nevada has been removed from Washoe city to Reno.

Bathing in the surf at the ocean beach near San Francisco is becoming quite common when the weather is suitable.

The route through the Coeur d'Alene mountains (via the old Mullan road) to Cedar Creek and Helena, Montana is now open so that horses can get through.

The Virginia Enterprise summarizes a new pastime in Nevada: "Our friend Perkins went out yesterday to practice throwing a boomerang sent him by his brother in Australia. The physicians think his nose can be patched and straightened up, but say his left eye is entirely gone."

A Walla Walla paper has this: Saturday is now the recognized business day of the week since the closing of our mercantile and other houses on Sunday. Since this new era has been inaugurated, our streets on Sunday present the appearance of a quiet New England town, where the ringing of the church bells all seek their respective places of worship.

A. O. Klaske, one of the passengers on board the steamer Active states that his name was affixed to a card of thanks to Captain Lyons without his knowledge or consent. He thinks the Captain censurable for the wreck as the steamer struck a rock so near the shore that cattle could be plainly seen on land from the ship. There was no fog at the time.

The amenities of journalism in Walla Walla will be understood from the following which one of the papers of that place gets off at the other:

The black mail organ is still flinging its filth at Mr Garfielde and Governor Salomon. The old fellow is mad because Garfielde would not give him four hundred dollars for keeping still and saying nothing against him as Judge Mix did. Hereafter, if a man wants to rub well in Walla Walla county let him pay the old fellow a trifle to pitch into him.

Brigham Young became sixty nine years old on the 1st of June. His paper the News, announces the fact in this language: The 1st day of June will be ever memorable among the Latter Day Saints as the birthday of the illustrious man who under God has been the means of leading them for so many long and important years, in the midst of so many remarkable scenes and vicissitudes which have marked their history since the death of the Prophet Joseph. Sixty nine years ago the town of Wittingham, Vt., received the honor of being the birthplace of one of the greatest men the nation has produced, for there is no American whose name is more widely known and who has achieved so high a reputation and so extensive a fame as President Brigham Young.

The Helena Herald of the 26th of May has the following: "At the International Hotel are stopping three gentlemen, E. P. North, Frank Woberly and E. A. Flint, Surveyors and Civil Engineers whom we are informed have been sent here to make important surveys for the Northern Pacific Railroad. Whether this is really a fact or not we are not prepared to say positively but various instruments supposed to be barometers, levels, etc., may be seen at the hotel, which looks a little suspicious to say the least, and indicates that the report in regard to their visit to Montana is not altogether unfounded. Col. Flint one of the surveyors, is from San Francisco. He is to examine Loo Loo Fork while the others, it is said, are to go from the Big Hole across the Salmon river and thence to Portland via Lewiston. This looks like business."

Brief Biographies of Editors.—The Louisville Courier Journal has an editorial on the recent assemblage of editors in that city on the occasion of the meeting of the Western Associated Press. The editorial is of an intensely personal character but in such an eulogistic vein that we presume the subjects of its sketches will not object even if they recover from their bewilderment over the records of their individual careers. We quote what is said about a few editors:

Mr Wells of Philadelphia [illegible] well known as Secretary of the Navy and Commissioner of Internal Revenue [illegible] be particularized. He is equally skillful as a journalist being a relative of the Hon W. D. Kelly. Mr Young of the New York Standard is chiefly distinguished as the author of those beautiful "Night Thoughts" which lend such a charm to the system of religion established by him some years ago in Salt Lake City where he spends his summers. Mr Brooks of New York is a man of letters a perfect encyclopedia in fact having suggested to the author that familiar [illegible] [illegible] and several inspirations including a poem by Mr Tennyson. He is also introduced into [illegible] three of the dramas of Mr Shakespeare under the [illegible] of Master Brooks.

[illegible] Taken [illegible] Credit Abroad.—The London Times of May [illegible] furnishes the following extracts on our financial credit abroad. It says:

An impression is entertained that in the course [illegible] likely to be resumed on a steady scale. During the last few years the heavy balance due to Europe for the excess of importations over exportations have been met by the transmission of Federal stocks and railway mortgage bonds but the further sale of the latter [illegible] of any American [illegible] undertaking having [illegible] of New York [illegible] and their [illegible] who otherwise [illegible] that looking at the [illegible] the great Democratic party [illegible] confidence as may have been entertained [illegible] the safety of United States obligations [illegible] greatly weakened. Under these circumstances [illegible] warranted at the rate of importation [illegible] must [illegible] pay as far as they are taken in excess. For the present the latter result seems to be considered the most probable.

The Sabbath School Floral Festival.—This annual [illegible] was as usual a very pleasant affair for all concerned. There was a very large attendance and the ceremonies were many of them beautiful and impressive. The singing by the little folks was particularly interesting. The windy motto maker and the motto bearers were beautiful groups, and the auction sale of 250,000,000 children was not only excellent in conception but was well performed. We have rarely attended a more thoroughly pleasant entertainment than was the Floral Festival, throughout.

POLITICAL ITEMS

The vote for delegate to Congress in Boise county Idaho stood thus: Merritt, Democrat, 94[illegible]; Butler, republican 618 [illegible] votes were thrown in the county.

The total vote for Judge [illegible] the Third Judicial District, composed of [illegible] Marion, Polk and Yamhill counties [illegible] [illegible] Benton [illegible] Lane and Douglas counties [illegible] Thayer's majority [illegible] with Curry county to hear from.

[illegible]

A letter from Florence gives some information that may be of [illegible] this morning I wandered through the market and turning a corner came suddenly upon a frog merchant who was [illegible] preparing and selling the little jumpers. On a table was a large bag into which a boy put his hand and took out a number of live frogs, with a pair of scissors he decapitated them in rapid succession at the same time cutting the skin of the back open and threw them into a large [illegible] which contained perhaps a hundred more in the [illegible] Although headless they were swimming about and jumping about in the liveliest manner. After soaking for a short time they are taken out and dexterously skinned and then thrown into a tub of clear water. Even after being beheaded and skinned some of them managed to swim around in the tub and always tried to climb up the sides. They are sold by weight and then are cleaned, the feet cut off and are ready for the purchaser who no doubt enjoys them more than I could after seeing the whole operation of killing.

Another cloud "the size of a man's hand" is rising in the horizon of Rome. The official communication from France to Prussia declaring that "if the Pope neglects to notice the admonitions of Prussia and the other Powers France will be compelled to act according to the dictates of protection of her own interests."

RETURNED TRAVELERS.—Mr. R. R. Thompson and family, who arrived home Tuesday evening, have been absent about thirteen months, during which time they enjoyed almost uninterrupted good health, traveled over a great number of the Southern, Middle and Eastern States, and pretty much all of Europe worth seeing. They were at Rome when the great Ecumenical Council met; ... during the great excitements early in the year. As sight-seers they were decidedly fortunate in the incidents and incidents of travel.

CAPTURED.—Chas. Engles, one of the prisoners who escaped from the jail Monday morning, was captured on Tuesday by John Ladd, about six miles from the city on the Springville road. Mr. Ladd brought his prisoner to town, without meeting resistance, and received the reward—one hundred dollars—offered by the Sheriff. Engles and the other two separated in this city shortly after getting out of the jail, and he knows nothing of the direction taken by Falk and Trainor.

A Strange Story—Probable Discovery of De Soto's Body—A Curious History of John Cowdon.

There is no incident of the remote past more interesting to the people of this city than that which the mounds of Fort Pickering suggest with vague memories of De Soto with his armed followers. Here they are said to have executed a treaty of peace with the Indians, and traces of De Soto's march are alleged to be found north of the city, in the vicinity of Fort Pillow. Of that tradition we will tell hereafter. Very certainly, he was the first white man who beheld the Mississippi, and, very certainly, if we may accept as the true story written by a priest who accompanied him, De Soto's body was committed to the keeping of the great river which has never ceased to chant a sad requiem over his last resting place. The recital that follows has direct reference to these facts, and, therefore, it is well calculated to excite keen interest among those who delight in recurring to events of the olden time.

Some time ago we recited facts incident to the avocations of Capt. John Cowdon, who devotes himself to the task of dragging up wrecked vessels from fathomable abysses along the Mississippi. He has studied the peculiarities of the wonders of the mighty river as none have done before. He travels up and down the inland sea, and ascends its tributaries, and studies the shores and beds of streams, above and beneath the water. His diving bell is one of the curiosities of naval architecture, the like of which was never known before. It consists of two flat boats, wholly unlike one another, connected by heavy beams, from which the diving bell is suspended. With this rude machinery, Capt. John Cowdon makes his endless voyages, and with this he dragged up, not long ago, from the bottom of the Arkansas, a locomotive and train of cars, now running from Little Rock in the direction of Fort Smith. We stated that Capt. Cowden was cognizant of facts which might lead to the recovery of vast wealth resting beneath islands everywhere along the course of the mighty river. When a steamer sinks and is anchored at the bottom of the river an island is formed by deposits of sand made by the broken current. Higher and higher, and broader and broader, each month and year becomes the tumulus that constitutes the grave of the steamer, until it lifts its summit above the river's surface. Then it is kissed by the sunbeams and luxuriant vegetation, rich as blessings that nature lavishes on this matchless valley, crowns it with garlands of verdure. Time rolls on, unlistlessly, unmurmuringly, unlike the heaving boisterous billows of the mighty river. Trees spring up and grow with a rapidity not known elsewhere in the world. There are countless forest crowned islands, which owe existence to simple facts here recited. Beneath one of these rests a steamer (we are not permitted to give her name), on which there are 500 barrels of brandy and at least 300 of whisky. Within fifteen years the chimneys of this boat, wrecked in 1844, still protruded above the surface of the island formed about them. Capt. Cowdon has often marked the spot, and now that he has somewhat recovered from shocks given his fortune by war, he proposes to invade the great rum hole of the dwellers at the bottom of the Mississippi. If he enters this "whisky-chute" in safety, he will come up one of the richest, as most come out of the other the poorest gentlemen in Memphis. Another steamer was sunk about 30 years ago, having $80,000 in an iron safe on board. She rests beneath another island which Cowdon has often traversed. For several weeks past Capt. Cowdon has been making a survey of localities which may contain uncounted wealth. He has examined islands and the river shores about the mouth of the Arkansas, where he knows that valuable wrecks may be discovered.

When inspecting the water line along the eastern shore last Wednesday week, he discovered the bow of a small copper-fastened vessel protruding into the river. Having no tools, and traversing the river in a narrow "dugout," he could do no more than make a critical examination of the boat and of the place where it was discovered. He observed that trees from five to seven feet in diameter grow immediately above the buried boat, and that the roots of these gigantic cypresses were twined about the ancient vessel. When boats sink in some localities the current drives or lifts them up an inclined plane and a violent flood sometimes leaves them above the river surface, on an island or sandbar. It is, however, as above stated, generally true that islands are created by sunken vessels heavily freighted, and having iron machinery. The semi-circular shape of this boat, found last Wednesday by Capt. Cowdon, its high bow; its dimensions being twice as great as those of a modern yawl; its copper fastenings; the length of time it has rested beneath the soil and water, as shown by the mighty trees that stand above it; these are facts which have excited Capt. Cowdon's wonder to the last degree. Who had such vessels on the Mississippi before these great trees sprang into existence? Three hundred years ago De Soto's body, at midnight, was placed in a vessel, a Spanish built vessel [?] and sunk in the midst of the river. His soldiers feared that the Indian enemy would assail them if it were known that the great chieftain was no more. DeSoto, so the old Spanish chronicler, whose story is reproduced by Irving, tells us, died near the mouth of the Arkansas, and here Capt. Cowdon discovered the boat which excited all these surmises. There is more than verisimilitude in this recital. Capt. Cowdon is in the city, and proposes at an early day to return to the spot where the Spanish vessel is buried. He has agreed to bring it to this city, and if he find within it the skeleton of a Hidalgo, will not the name of John Cowdon and that of De Soto, be inseparably linked together through the coming time? De Soto discovered the Mississippi and became immortal, John Cowdon achieves in finitely a greater wonder in the discovery of De Soto. Who doubts?—Memphis Appeal, May 17.

THE EMIGRANT WAVE FLOW TO AMERICA—INFLUENCE OF THE PACIFIC RAILROAD ON THE MOVEMENT.—A spring tide of emigration has set in. The Old World is rapidly emptying itself, and the New World becomes rapidly filled up. It is recorded that 6,000 emigrants left the Mersey during the last 7 days and that 7,000 are to sail this week. We may easily believe that the great majority of those who depart seek the United States, for the statistics of New York testify to an influx greater in amount than even our own emigration. It is said that 7,000 persons have landed in New York during four days. A few years ago it was thought marvelous that the new comers amounted to 1,000 a day, now they nearly double that number. It must be borne in mind that this great exodus from the United Kingdom has a tendency to acquire new volume and power as it goes on. Emigrants when they prosper in the new land send for their friends and relatives from home, and the Irish and German must frequently remit money to defray the expenses of the second family detachment. This is not quite true of expatriated Englishmen; nevertheless, glowing reports of the new land are often encouraging enough to those who can beg, borrow, or save the few pounds needed for the short voyage by steam to New York. The opening of the Pacific Railway is, of course, the great stimulus to the present "rush." It gives access to countless square miles of virgin soil that otherwise might not have been reached for half a century.—London Telegraph, May 25th.

An additional lot of those handsome suits worn by everybody, both heavy and light weight, was received by Kohn & Fishel, No. 91 Front street. Human Life.—He who saves a human life or prolongs its days on earth is a public benefactor. Health is life, health is happiness, health makes wealth, health gives a clear intellect, health fathers a noble offspring and peoples up the globe with men and women of God-like physiques. If we would have pure, red, rich, electrical blood—blood that gives tone to the system, the "rose-tint of health" to the cheek—we must keep the stomach laboratory in perfect order. PLANTATION BITTERS will correct prostration, enrich the blood, strengthen and invigorate digestion, arouse a torpid liver, and abate a nervous headache. They will impart tone and circulation to the blood and the whole nervous system.

Sea Moss Farine from pure Irish Moss, for Blanc Mange, Puddings, Custards, Creams, &c., &c. The cheapest, healthiest and most delicious food in the world.

Thrice Armed!

Thrice is he armed who keeps within reach of his hand a specific that at one and the same time will strengthen, regulate and purify his system when enfeebled, disordered and corrupted.

Such is the three-fold operation of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, and hence the great superiority of that standard vegetable restorative over all medicines that are merely tonics and nothing else. The effect of the ordinary astringent tinctures and extracts upon the bowels is disastrous, and upon the depraved blood or bile they produce no beneficial effects whatever. In dyspepsia and liver complaints all the fluids and humors of the body are more or less infected, and the bowels are often badly constipated. An unmodified astringent—quinine for instance—does infinitely more harm than good in such cases. In Hostetter's Bitters, on the other hand, the stimulating and tonic elements are qualified with aperients and antiseptic ingredients. The finest laxatives and blood depurents in the vegetable kingdom are intermixed with those of a purely invigorating nature, and under the operation of this admirable combination, the three important processes of invigoration, regulation and purification go on together. The rapidity with which the disordered organization returns to its natural condition, under a course of the Bitters is due to this cause. Every disturbed function of the body is favorably affected by the various properties of this comprehensive and well balanced preparation. As a general rule the bowels are subject to irregularities, and the fluids liable to become vitiated, and hence the Bitters are especially valuable as an alterative, corrective and invigorant. In all districts where the seeds of intermittent fevers infect the air, the healthful vegetable elixir should be taken as a protective medicine.

HAS CONSTANTLY ON HAND GROUND AND ROASTED COFFEE, GREEN COFFEE of the best qualities. CREAM OF TARTAR and SPICES of all sorts.

The undersigned, who has always enjoyed public confidence for the excellent quality of his Coffee, neglects nothing to justify the good name acquired by his productions, the sale of which daily increases. The acknowledged superiority of his merchandise, which commands here and in the markets of the interior a relatively higher price, excites the cupidity of some manufacturers, and every day he sees increasing the number of those who, by counterfeit or imitation of his mark, seek to deceive the public, palming upon them their inferior productions for the genuine G. VENARD CHARTRES COFFEE. The fraud can deceive nobody after a trial, but only adds to the favorable opinion of the consumers, the very flattering though unwitting testimony of the counterfeiters. Nevertheless, buyers should be forewarned, and placed on their guard against this practice.

The Story of a Traveler's Troubles as Related by Himself

[illegible] Milwaukee Wisconsin

This [illegible] legal gentleman of the city, who, contrary to his usual practice [illegible]. Indeed he seemed [illegible] out of humor that we thought something out of the usual course [illegible] had [illegible] to trouble him. Said the gentleman and he said it [illegible]:

I want you to give those baggage men a [illegible] thunder.

The gentleman's [illegible] attempted to explain to him that baggage men were on the whole a pretty good set of fellows; that they had their trials and grievances like the rest of mankind [illegible] that if they occasionally lost their temper it was not entirely their fault. But the legal gentleman broke in upon us with the exclamation that he didn't care about their temper. "They are a confounded stupid pack, and they ought to be kicked every one of them."

We stopped him as soon as we could, and then asked him what under the sun was the [illegible] and then if you don't [illegible] the baggage-men a grudge for the trouble [illegible] carelessness has caused me I'll not say another word.

A few days ago I had my valise packed and went off to Madison to attend a case. Upon returning my valise was given me by the baggagemaster—the infernal scoundrel—and I went home. My wife desired to take it to look after my clothes, but as there were some important papers in the valise I said she must wait. Now whenever I had returned home before she always took it from me as I went in and, woman like, she seems to have thought that there was a secret about the valise—confound the baggageman. Well, just as quick as my back was turned off went the valise to the chamber and into my wife's fingers. Ten minutes later there was a scream echoing through the house that would have aroused a night watchman from his dreams. I rushed up stairs, and what do you suppose I saw—confound the baggage man! There was my wife stretched on the floor in hysterics, and there was my valise wide open on the floor and showing very plainly the following table of contents:

"An empty whisky bottle.

"Two packs of cards.

"Photograph of four young ladies that ought to be ashamed of themselves.

"A lady's shawl.

"A whole apothecary's shop on a small scale.

"Three dime novels.

"Two blood and thunder papers.

"A dice box.

"Another pack of cards.

"Two faro chips.

"And I don't know how much more of just such trash. I do know that the valise—my valise, was full of just such traps, and my wife had seen them all, and then gone off into hysterics.

I tried to bring her back to her senses, but she came back far enough to open her eyes, she pointed sort of spasmodically at the valise, and then with a double yell went off again. I tell you I was mad. I just walked up and down that apartment and I cursed a blue streak. I think if I had met that baggageman then I should have fully impressed upon his mind that he had been visited by a collision. The maid put my wife to bed, and I went down street swearing. When I came back the room was locked and I was locked out. The maid looked at me as though I had been doing something wicked, and the children slunk away as if I wanted to eat them—confound that baggageman.

I finally got the door of the room open and asked my wife what all this meant. She bursted into tears and pointed at the valise. And do you know that it took me all day to make her believe that it was all the fault of that confounded baggageman who had gone and changed handtrunks for me! I could not do it until I had gone to the depot and spent hours in hunting up my own baggage, and even then it took a new bonnet and a velvet cloak to entirely dispel the cloud which that baggageman had brought into my house. And what do you think he said? Why, when I told him all the misery his carelessness had caused me, the fellow laughed—fairly laughed—and said they looked so much alike!

HOW HIGGINS BROKE THE NEWS.—Yes, I remember that anecdote, the Sunday school Superintendent said, with the old pathos in his voice and the old sad look in his eyes. "It was about a simple creature named Higgins, that used to haul rock for old Maltby. When the lamented Judge Bagley tripped and fell down the Court-house stairs and broke his neck it was a great question how to break the news to poor Mrs Bagley. But finally the body was put into Higgins' wagon and he was instructed to take it to Mrs B., but to be very guarded and discreet in his language, and not to break the news to her at once, but do it gradually and gently. When Higgins got there with his fright he shouted till Mrs Bagley came to the door. Then he said:

"Does the widder Bagley live here?"

"The widow Bagley? No, sir."

"I'll bet she does. But have it your own way. Well, does Judge Bagley live here?"

"Yes."

"I'll bet he don't. But never mind, it ain't for me to contradict. Is the Judge in?"

"Not at present."

"I jest expected as much. Because, you know—take hold o' suthin, mum, for I'm a going to make a little communication, and I reckon maybe it'll jar you some. There's been an accident, mum. I've got the old Judge curled up out here in the wagon—and when you see him you'll acknowledge yourself, that an inquest is about the only thing that could be a comfort to him."

SOME OF SHERIDAN KNOWLES' BULLS.—During an engagement at Haymarket Theater Knowles having made preparations for a trip into the country, went to the room of the manager, Mr Webster, and said in his usual emphatic manner: "I'm going out of town to-morrow. Can I take any letters or parcels for you?" "Well, my dear Knowles," replied Webster, "I'm much obliged to you; but where are you going?" "Upon my faith," said the ingenuous Irishman, "I really don't know, for I haven't made up my mind."

When a version of "Frankenstein" was being performed nightly at two metropolitan theaters, the hero being represented at the one by O. Smith and at the other by T. P. Cooke, Knowles on meeting the former one day in the street, stopped him and cried: "Faith, I met your namesake yesterday, Mr T. P. Cooke."

The names of Mark Lemon and Leman Rede used to puzzle him sadly, and as both were at the period [illegible] frequently before the public as writers for the stage, Knowles could never bring himself to understand which of the two was the subject of congratulation when a dramatic success had been achieved by either of them. At length he met Leman Rede and Mark Lemon walking arm in arm. "Ah!" said Knowles, the moment he was [illegible] "now I am [illegible]. Which of you is the other?" [illegible]

BOOKS FOR CHILDREN.—In speaking of children's books the New York Times says:

Children should be accustomed to read instructive books of history, biography and travels, from which they may get enlarged ideas and profitable information; and better still a healthful taste for reading instead of the hectic avidity which tends to weaken their minds. Hard books of the old fashioned kind are always best for young people. In their books as well as in their play, the children are too well provided for nowadays.

In discussing the same subject the London Spectator recently said:

A bare, rugged and almost grotesque simplicity of material is we are disposed to maintain the best possible food for ninety nine children out of a hundred. For our own part this is the grudge we openly profess to the children of this generation for monopolizing so many more of the good things of this world than we were able to enjoy. We sincerely believe that they would be happier on the plain food and limited enjoyments which alone were at the command of the last generation. We suspect that there is a great deal to be said for the naked and grotesque simplicity and for the didactic morality in the old world children's tales. It did at least produce a definite impression either of attraction or repulsion.

NEW WIFE LAW.—The following bill passed by the Pennsylvania Legislature at its late session will [illegible] of [illegible] wives and bring [illegible] husbands to their senses:

SECTION 1. That whenever any husband from drunkenness, profligacy or other cause, shall neglect or refuse to provide for his wife, or shall for two successive years desert his wife, or neglect or refuse to live with her, and provide for her, she shall have every species and description of property, whether real, personal or mixed, owned by or belonging to her, have all the rights and privileges of a feme sole trader, and sell and convey the same as if she were sole and unmarried.

The Reverend Doctor Talmage thus eulogizes geese:

They are worth more than an eagle any day; have better morals, and pluck more nutriment out of the mud than the eagles do out of the sun. Save for Fourth of July orations [illegible] of little worth, filthy, cruel, ugly at the beak, fierce at the eye, loathsome at the claw. But give me a flock of geese, white-breasted, yellow-billed, coming up at nightfall with military tramp in single file [illegible] nearly at the barn-yard; they take wing and with deafening [illegible] the flying artillery wheel to their [illegible].

Several years ago Broadway, New York, was regularly patrolled by a beggar who asked alms of [illegible] exceptionally [illegible]. To those he addressed himself thus: "O [illegible] lady, have pity on a poor beggar!" He was singularly successful in his appeals. In reply to an inquiry he explained his [illegible] thus: "You see, sir, my plan pleases all the ladies. Some of 'em believe me and are pleased with the compliment. Others see it's all a sham, and they are tickled by the joke; so you see I get something from all of 'em."

The [illegible] Fenian foray on Canada, so far from killing Fenianism, as some predicted it would, seems only to have stimulated it. The Irish American journals are already explaining that the recent movement was entirely unauthorized by the Brotherhood, and that when the Brotherhood makes an invasion it will be in an entirely different manner and with an entirely different result. Those who would free Ireland are told not to mind this contemptible fiasco, but to hold themselves in readiness for a real blow, and meanwhile to contribute.

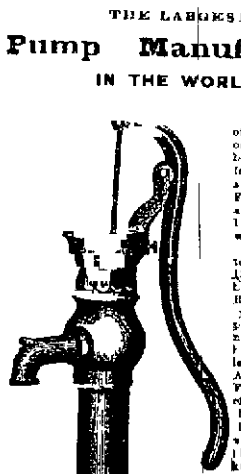
RUMSEY & CO.,

Seneca Falls, New York

THE LARGEST

Pump Manufactory

IN THE WORLD



The Catalogue of RUMSEY & CO. of Seneca Falls embraces over 200 different styles and sizes of Lift and Force Pumps. They are now making 1,500 Pumps per week, which range in price from $1 50 to $150, employing 150 hands in the business. J. H. Ayer [illegible] has recently patented an improved galvanized anti-freezing cast iron Pump, which is also free from rust. An improved Hand Fire Engine of great efficiency is also on their list. The machinery in Rumsey & Co's Factory is of the most efficient kind, much of it being of their own invention, and is driven by an unfailing water power. They are now building a new factory 64x42 feet, 4 stories. When this is completed they will increase their working force to 250 hands. The business carried on by this firm was established by Rumsey about 20 years ago.—Iron Age, New York. d14dtf

NEW REMEDIES NEW REMEDIES

Dr Gibbon's Dispensary,

623 KEARNEY STREET NEAR COMMERCIAL, San Francisco. Established in 1854, for the treatment of Sexual and Seminal Diseases, such as Gonorrhea, Gleet, Stricture, Syphilis in all its forms, Seminal Weakness, Impotency, etc. Skin Diseases (of years standing) and Ulcerated Legs successfully treated.

Horrible Diseases

How many thousands of persons, both male and female, are there who are suffering out a miserable existence from the effects of secret indulgences, or from virus absorbed into the system. Look at their pallid emaciated and disfigured faces and their broken-down constitutions, disqualifying them for the happiness of marriage or the enjoyment of life. In this horrid situation thousands suffer until death closes the scene. Let parents, guardians, friends attend! those who are suffering with any of these horrible, life-destroying maladies—see that they are cared for and cured before the too late. Send them immediately to Doctor Gibbon, a physician who has made private diseases his especial study for years, and who is certain to cure the most inveterate cases without mercury or any injurious drugs. It is important to those who are afflicted, and to those who are interested in the welfare of their friends, to be careful of the many pretended doctors who infest all cities, publishing their skill in curing all diseases in a few days, imposing upon the public by using the names of eminent physicians from Europe and other places. Be therefore careful and make strict inquiry or you may fall into the hands of those charlatans.

Seminal Weakness

Seminal Emissions, the consequence of self-abuse. This solitary vice, depraved sexual indulgence, is practised by the youth of both sexes to an almost unlimited extent, producing with unerring certainty the following train of morbid symptoms, unless combatted by scientific medical measures: Sallow countenance, dark spots under the eyes, pain in the head, ringing in the ears, noise like the rustling of leaves and rattling chariots, uneasiness about the loins, weakness of the limbs, confused vision, blunted intellect, loss of confidence in approaching strangers, a dislike to form new acquaintances, a disposition to shun society, loss of memory, hectic flushes, pimples and various eruptions about the face, furred tongue, fetid breath, coughs, consumption, night sweats, monomania and frequently insanity. If relief be not obtained, should apply immediately, either in person or by letter, and have a cure effected by his new and scientific mode of treatment, the disease which never fails of effecting a quick and radical cure. Dr G. will give One Hundred Dollars to any person who will prove satisfactorily to him that he was cured of his complaint by either of the San Francisco quacks.

MARRIED MEN,

Or those who contemplate marriage, who are suffering under any of these fearful maladies, should not forget the sacred responsibility resting upon them, nor delay obtaining immediate relief.

DOCTOR GIBBON is responsible and will give to each patient a written guarantee to effect a radical and permanent cure or make no charge.

CURED AT HOME

Persons at a distance may be CURED AT HOME by addressing a letter to Dr Gibbon, stating case, symptoms, length of time the disease has continued, and have medicines promptly forwarded, free from damage and curiosity, to any part of the country, with full and plain directions for use, by sending [illegible] or through Wells, Fargo & Co.

Caution to the Unfortunate

Beware of the San Francisco quacks and pretenders who will tell you [illegible] San Francisco [illegible] lazy to work at their trades [illegible] the shoe makers [illegible] office keepers, etc. [illegible] the Directory for 1861 and 18[illegible]. The only way to avoid imposition [illegible] safely [illegible] know who and what they are [illegible] deceive people by exhibiting [illegible] or [illegible] pretended patent letters [illegible] his ability [illegible] the proprietor [illegible].

Address DR. J. F. GIBBON, 623 Kearney street, corner Commercial, Private Entrance on Commercial, San Francisco. Post Office Box 282.

REMEMBER TO PUT BOX 282 ON THE LETTER.
